

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A food tray assembly of the present invention includes a tray and a preformed flexible liner. The tray has a base wall and sidewalls, which extend up from the base wall to form a cavity. The preformed flexible liner is configured and arranged to substantially conform to the inner surfaces of the base wall and the sidewalls to form a liquid containing bowl in the cavity for holding food and liquid therein.